

12 September 1946

Country: Poland
Subject: Defenses in the Lwow Area

1. In the outlying suburbs of Lwow, many trenches have been dug systematically in a semi-circle from the northeast to southwest. They consist of three lines placed at a distance of 0.5 kms from each other. There are also concrete machinegun nests. Between the trenches are barbed-wire entanglements, trestles, rifle pits, and bunkers. The first line of trenches runs as follows: Wisniki-Lesienice-Boishe-Malucha-Bruchowice-Linna Koda. The second line of trenches is situated between Sadowa Wisznia-Mossiska. The third line runs immediately in front of the Curzon Line toward Medym, but crosses the frontier to the west.
2. The Red Army tries to give the impression that this work is carried out in connection with exercises in which the troops and German PW's take part. The exercises consist of firing and movement of troops. Anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns are placed at various points.
3. The civilian population has no access to these areas.
